DF-505 "THE ORIGINAL MAXI" Dent Pulling Welder

Made in the USA, this dent pulling station allows the user to pull hard-to-access dents from unpainted steel body panels. The convenient handle-grip electrode holds a pin that is electrically welded to the surface with a pull of the trigger. Then you simply pull the dent by hand, slide hammer, or leverage bar. Just a quick twist of the handle and the electrode pops off cleanly. This machine can also shrink metal using the same handle grip.

The kit includes 500 stud weld pins, 1 lb. wiggler rod (for long creases), pulling handles, and leverage bar. Specify standard single phase 110VAC or 220VAC. 5 - Year Warranty.

$4995.00 Complete System

DF-900-IQ Alu-Spot Aluminum Pulling System

We're proud to introduce this unique aluminum dent pulling system. The Alu-Spot unit and our special tool set and procedures allow dents in aluminum panels to be pulled from the top surface. Unlike other aluminum pulling systems, our process does not require pre-heating the panel to high temperatures when working on new production body panels.

The electrode tack-welds an aluminum alloy stud to the panel surface. The dent can then be easily and quickly pulled with either the T-grip handle or the locking squeeze plier tool. We've included two sizes of wire brushes and a flush-cutting end nipping tool to minimize filing. The complete system includes all the tools you'll need and one bag of 500 aluminum alloy studs. The unit operates on standard 115VAC.
